

Additional External Evidence of Scholarship

Kirk Borne

Attached in this section are several letters and messages from external scientists that provide corroborating external evidence of my forefront research activities, international reputation, and scholarly pursuits. Some of these are invitation letters for conference invited talks, some are for invited book chapters, some are invitations to join international scholarly associations, and some are testimonials about my contributions to the fields of research in which I work.